ACADEMICS

ND Girls Probe Modern Questions on Religion

Do you love your enemies? It's not meant to be just a question to be answered "yes" or "no." It is meant to be a way of life. Through questions like this, girls at N.D.A. learned to examine their lives and were encouraged to form them into lives with an even more Christ-like attitude. They learned to search for their values and to train themselves to be always candid about their true feelings and opinions. They learned also to communicate better not only with one another, but also with Christ in a special way

French Flows at NDA

Parlez vous Français? The reader may not; however, Notre Dame's French students did their best to learn to speak French.

Girls were helped to better themselves in the language by many means. They conversed in dialogues from the book, listened to tapes, repeated words and phrases until they knew them, worked out exercises from books, sang French songs and presented their own stories. French came alive every day for NDA students.

Scholars Study Spanish

From the meager beginnings of learning simple nouns and sentences to the more complicated forms of verbs, Spanish students strove for a better understanding of the language. If it takes a genuine atmosphere to learn something foreign, then these girls should be next to scholars. Activities ranged from reading and reciting from the textbook to singing Spanish songs, and even occasionally to sampling native foods. Who knows when the U.S. will need another Spanish diplomat? Possibly government officials will select an NDA graduate with Spanish fluency and background!

Latin Lives Again at ND

Though the modern languages are becoming more popular, some of the girls still chose Latin. First year students began by learning the fundamentals of grammar. Older students read stories and acted dialogues. Advanced students read the Iliad and the Odyssey in Latin. Latin may be coming back, at least so it seemed this year. Numbers were higher in lower level classes.

Die Mädchen Speak, Act Language of Deutschland

Sister Mary Laura, teacher of German, again guided students through the language and customs of Deutschland. Sister used tapes, dialogues, books and films as helpful teaching aids for this challenging subject. Extra interest was added to the learning process when Sister would read German fairy tales to the class. The course included much emphasis on the fluent speaking of the language. Students memorized lively dialogues that helped build comprehension and appreciation of this tongue twisting language.

Exact Calculations Plus Practice Equal Math

Does $y-k = \frac{1}{4}m(x-h)$ really make sense? Well, to the girls in the varied math courses it did. These girls learned from the beginning that the age old adage, "practice makes perfect," is more than true. Hours of hard work and concentration went towards a greater understanding of the endless world of numbers and their properties. At NDA, under the guidance of dedicated teachers, many of these complicated processes were explained and learned, so that even the most complicated problems eventually had a solution.

NDA Girls Delve Into Mysteries of Science

Test tubes overflowing with bubbling solutions, beakers with unusual substances measured in perfect proportions, a wastebasket filled with crumpled papers, strange markings and calculations scribbled on the board. What is this? A mad scientist's laboratory? No, it is only one of N.D.A.'s science labs put to good use in the course of the year. Now is the time that students boldly undertake and conquer challenges, so that in the future they may conquer undiscovered mysteries of the world.

NDA Historians Change History to Her-story

Notre Dame offered a wide range of history courses this year. Students discovered how our government is run when they took problems of democracy. In Asian studies girls learned the history of the past and present in Japan and China. Contemporary history taught the more recent events that stand out in the building of greater countries. In civics class, girls came to understand our country's constitution and governmental system. Ethnic studies treated individual nationalities and their establishment in America. In ethnic studies the girls learned also about their own personal heritage through the research in making their family trees. American history, a required course, taught our country's history from the beginning. With these studies the NDA girl was offered the opportunity to develop a rich background in history.

Art Draws NDA Girls Into Great Adventure

As part of the art program, girls learned how to make lines fit into a pleasing and useful pattern, much as one needs to separate thoughts and ideas in her mind. Paint, charcoal, pencils, crayons, and yarn were just a few of the types of materials used to create moods on paper. Graceful, bold, regular, and varied — these were just a few of the types that could be used. Sponges, brushes, fingers and pens were some of the utensils through which the art piece met its creator. Art brought out hidden creativity day after day. Art in 1975-76 continued a long tradition of excellence at NDA

Speech Aids Girls in Expressing Original Ideas

Expressive speech class seized upon the bicentennial theme as the take-off for their annual school assembly. Gathering facts from books and music of historic significance, they created a program of American lore and music to instruct and entertain NDA girls. Prior to their work on the assembly, they went through basic drama experiences, especially the pantomime, to grow in ease and grace in performances.

Public speaking classes also entered into the bicentennial experience with their speeches, radio and videotape productions.

Literature Gives Culture to Junior-Senior English

Whether it was term paper, novel and drama, poetry or short story studies, a girl was sure to find an English course to tickle her fancy and get her literary taste pleased. Juniors and seniors had a wide selection of English courses to choose from so that they could grow in appreciation, familiarity and understanding of great literature

Teachers Stress Better English Grammar Usage

Learning prepositions, conjunctions and the proper places for punctuation is not enough, no not in freshmen and sophomore English classes. In the first two years of high school, the pages of great literary writing unfold to them with better understanding. The English language is learned thoroughly so it can be used correctly and effectively in other courses. The different activities, such as viewing filmstrips, hearing tape recordings and records give the girls a glimpse of their junior and senior year. By using various types of media the students learn English can be fun

Past which classroom could one walk and have a great smell greet her nose? A smell that was tempting enough to make her stomach growl? Where (at NDA) could one see the latest fashion designed and constructed? Where did future homemakers learn their trade? If the reader answered, "The foods lab, the sewing room and Sister Mary Lizette's family living course," in that order, he could give himself an "A." Ask any cooking student how to prepare "crepe" and she would have answered, "That's elementary." Question a sewing student on the correct way to make fabric grain-perfect and reply would be,

"That's easy." Direct the problem of how to bathe a restless baby and any girl who took the family living course would have told the questioner that there is a simple solution to that problem. These three courses were offered to teach girls the basic arts of life and how to live happily, creating a beautiful life-style for their families

ND Business Subjects Test Office Procedures

Typing I, shorthand, office practice, accounting, and Typing II combined to help Notre Dame girls get the best secretarial training possible. Each of these courses helped to build a business-like attitude in the girls. Whether they were planning a business career or just taking courses for their personal gain, the classes were beneficial to them.

"Is my copy written?" "Is my layout completed?" "Can't I have just a little more time before deadline?" These are just a few of the questions raised by those frantic girls seen running in and out of room 314. Much work goes into the making of a yearbook. Each year the staff tries to make the book better than the year before.

In order to be on the staff, each girl must take Journalism I. This helps to teach the girls the basic techniques of journalism needed to put out a quality year book.

The literary magazine was a supplement to the yearbook. It contained various literary writings of students on all levels.

All in all much hard work is put into the making of a truly good yearbook.

Music Makes the World Go Around Daily at ND

Have you been hearing voices with God's own orchestra playing the accompaniment? Well, that sweet music and those sweet voices are the Notre Dame Chorus and Orchestra, coming not out of heaven, but out of the choral room

The orchestra is directed by Sister Mary Helaine. She spends many hours with the girls, teaching them just how and when to hit the right notes. Who knows, someday we may have the Notre Dame Symphony!

The chorus is directed by Sister Mary Krista. They present two major concerts each year. They also perform at many of the school assemblies

Reading Sharpens Alert Minds, Builds Vocabulary

To those who took any reading courses this past year, games of scrabble and pace reading machines probably sound familiar. In reading, girls learned to read at a faster rate and become more comprehensive readers. The girls also took advantage of the library for added improvements in their reading. Results of this course should prove useful in further education

ACTIVITIES

Student Council Works to Bring Unity to NDA

"We do it all for you!" That was the student council theme for the year of 1975-76. The officers and members did their best to fulfill their duties as representatives of the student body.

The activities and the month for which they were planned, were September, the opening assembly, a bike hike and the first dance. October, the first paper drive, a school picnic and the Halloween party. November, a skating party, the student council date dance and the Thanksgiving assembly. January, a "week of prayer"; February, the second paper drive and a ski trip; March was busy with tournaments and in April the s.c. officers passed out easter eggs. And finally in May: a student council banquet and student council elections.

Student council tried to provide various activities in which everyone could participate. The officers of 1975-76 were Val Lepkowski, Colleen Hood, Laurie Hines, and Mary Beth Lavey. They worked together with the student council to "Do it all for you!!"

"Just You and Me" at the Jr.-Sr. Prom, 1975

Juniors and seniors from NDA and their dates attended the prom at Gladieux II on May 16, 1975.

Couples strolled into Gladieux II around 8:30 to dance and socialize until 11:30 when the dance was ended.

The band played a variety of favorites ranging from rock-n-roll to slow romantic music. The theme "Just You and Me" along with the gayly decorated tables, helped to set the right atmosphere.

Afterwards couples went their own way for a quiet dinner, parties or a lovely evening together.

Assemblies Display Hidden Talents at NDA

Girls at NDA have the opportunity to be a Christmas present, pioneer, turkeys, fairy tale characters, teachers, or possibly a character from a favorite T.V. show. They also have the opportunity to show their singing, dancing or acting talents. How is this possible? In the assemblies of course!

The opening assembly is first, Thanksgiving is next and then the Christmas assembly. This year there was a "Regina" assembly to promote sales and a Bi-Centennial assembly in honor of America's 200 birthday.

Assemblies help to give a little entertainment to N.D.A.

Crews Work Behind the Scenes of Senior Class Play

There were many people who helped to make the senior class play the success it was. Some of these people are the technical consultants, stage crew and set construction workers, stagehands, assistant stage crew, ushers; the properties, make-up, publicity, costume, tickets, and program committees. The girls who pulled the curtains and worked the lights and also the directors and the advisors.

All these people put very much of their time into "Anne of Green Gables" and it proved to be worth their while on January 17 and 18 when the public came and applauded their senior class play

Three Organizations Contribute their Time and Efforts to Keep NDA Going and Growing

Three organizations are responsible for keeping Notre Dame growing. They are the Fathers' Club, the Notre Dame League and the Alumnae

The Fathers' Club's main purpose is to unite fathers interested in the educational development, financial assistance and progress of NDA

The purpose of the ND League is to support the apostolic work of the Sisters of Notre Dame in their efforts to promote Catholic education. Sister Mary Patricie is moderator of both organizations.

The Alumnae consist of graduates of ND. Their purpose is to help support ND financially and to keep a bond of union with their alma mater. $600. in partial scholarships are given, and money is given to the New Guinea Missions and Notre Dame extension college. Sister Mary Jon is moderator

Gay's Spirit Shines Through Rain At SJ Homecoming

Rainy weather couldn't dampen the spirit of Gay Kozakiewicz at the St. John's 1975 Homecoming game. Gay, who was chosen to represent Notre Dame, rode in the car caravan from SJ to the home stadium and witnessed the victory of SJ over Bowsher, 26-0. The theme of the dance was "Miracles" and the band was "Silver Load." Beth Schroeder reigned as SJ Homecoming queen at the game and dance. November 1, 1975 was a day of victory and excitement for the Titans. The girls of the court went to St. John's on Thursday to give a speech in front of the student body. The girls of the court were; Sue Anderson, Beth Schroeder and Ellen Morrissey, from SUA. Karen Katula from McAuley and Gay Kozakiewicz from NDA.

Erin and Sally Represent ND at SF Homecoming

The St. Francis Homecoming started with the announcing of Jeannie Blanchard as Homecoming Queen 1975, at the dance Friday night September 19. Erin Riley and Sally McHugh, both from Notre Dame, were members of the court, along with Linda Szymanski, Mary Ann Byersmith and Mary Kennedy all from St. Ursula.

Saturday, after the Mass held at St. Francis, dedicated workers met at various houses to finish the decorating of the floats. With the floats finished and spirits high, a parade started from St. Francis and ended at DeVilbiss' stadium. Despite the repeating cheer, "We want the Irish Knight," and the support of all SFS fans, St. Francis lost to Central 18-7.

Disguised Girls Haunt the Halls of NDA on Oct. 30

Halloween wouldn't be the same if there weren't parties to go to or reasons to wear costumes. On October 30, ND girls attended the annual Halloween party. They dressed as just about everything imaginable from beer cans to gingerbread men. The spook house captured the attention of all. Those who worked up a thirst or hunger found cider, donuts and chips in the dining hall

NDA Girls Steal Night on Town with Dear Old Dad

It's not every day that dear old Dad buys his NDA daughter a corsage, a dinner and a ticket to a dance, but on October 24, Dad had that opportunity. He brought his daughter to the Father-Daughter Dance. A chicken dinner at 6:00 p.m. started the evening, and at 8:00 p.m. the dancing began. The girls and their partners danced the polka, the waltz, and a bit of hoe down was included. A special dance was set aside for the seniors and their dads just before 11:00 p.m. the band played the last song of the evening and the magic evening came to an end.

Crowns, Carnations and Candy Show Appreciation

One nice thing about being a senior is getting a crown with one's name on it. Every Year on St. Lucy's Day the underclassmen honor the seniors on their special day.

This year on December 12th, the juniors crowned the seniors queens for the day, the sophomores presented them with blue carnations with red ribbons and the freshmen gave them candy treats.

The personalized crowns, the carnations and the baskets that the candy treats came in will always be reminders to the class of '76 of their lovely St. Lucy's Day.

Project Help-a-Child Is a Learning Experience

Dedicated. That is a word that best describes the girls who volunteer their services to Ladyfield and Mary Immaculate.

These girls offer their time to help the teachers help the students during their open periods.

Back and forth they travel to do a job that is rewarding. Just a smile, a touch, or even the hand-made cards the children give, make all the walking back and forth worthwhile.

Washington, D.C. Will Never Be the Same Again

What's so special about being a senior? some underclassmen may ask. One could say, "the senior class play" or "graduation," or even, "the special senior lounge." But what most seniors will agree on is the class trip to Washington D.C. For those who went, the trip proved to be as exciting and thrilling as they had hoped it would be ever since they entered Notre Dame as freshmen.

The class of '76 left the Academy October 15th at 6:00 a.m. for Detroit Metropolitan Airport. Little sisters, friends, families and boyfriends came to bid them farewell. They landed in Washington at 9:15 a.m. and were on their way to an exciting tour beginning with a visit to Alexandria Mount Vernon and a stop for lunch. Other places they visited were the Bureau of Engraving, Arlington Cemetery, Ford Theater to see "Are You Now or Have You Ever Been?", The Capitol, Supreme Court, Library of Congress, the White House, the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, Smithsonian Institute, Wax museum, Annapolis, Washington Monument, National Archives, Kennedy Center, Jefferson Memorial, Lincoln Memorial, and the Art museum. Highlights of the trip were the visit to Congressman Ashley, living in Hospitality Inn and the air flight.

The seniors knew NDA would not be the same without them, so they returned at 11:00 Friday night.

After Class of '76 Visits Nation's Capitol

"Anne of Green Gables" Appears on NDA Stage

"There's no business like show business!" Those who took part in the senior class play will most likely agree with that statement. After many hours of costume making, set design and building, ticket selling, advertising and rehearsing the production, "Anne of Green Gables" opened on January 17. The 2-day run was successful and drew a big audience both nights.

"Anne of Green Gables" is a comedy about an orphan named Anne (Linda Kinor) who is adopted by Marilla (Connie Paszek) and Matthew Cuthbert (Les Kevehazi, SFS). Other characters were Rachel Lynde (Val Lepkowski), Gilbert Blythe (Jim Seguin, SFS), Diana (Erin Riley) and Mrs. Barry (Barb Bode), Josie Pye (Terry Grossmann), Mrs. Allen (Karen Barnes), Florence Remsen (Sue Keller), Mrs. Spencer (Nancy Heferle), Ira Mills (Mike Kenney, SFS), and Moody Spurgeon (John Rockwell, SFS).

A lot of people and work were involved in the senior class play. Two important people were Miss Patricia Beazley (directress) and Anne Vanderkelen (student directress). Assisting them were Mrs. Benjamin Beazley and Mrs. Kenneth Culpert and all four senior homeroom teachers.

"Anne of Green Gables" will stick in the minds of the cast, set crew, members of the various committees and the class of '76 as fun and a successful play.

Juniors Delight in the Excitement of Ring

December 10 found the juniors wearing their dress uniform, white carnations with red and blue ribbons and their new class rings.

Ring day is a very special day for the juniors, for it is a highlight of their years at NDA. From the time they enter ND 'til the day before ring day, the excitement grows and grows.

The ceremony started with a procession that began in the academic halls and ended in the auditorium. Father Nicholas Weible offered the mass and blessed the rings. The juniors and their parents proceeded to the dining hall where the seniors served a brunch.

The rest of the day was a flurry of flashing rings and busy chatter.

Big and little sisters congratulated the juniors on this long but awaited but well deserved day. When it was all over the juniors had fond memories and a golden ring to remind them of their days at NDA.

Juniors and Seniors Dance at 1975 NDA

The snow started falling just in time to set the right mood for the Notre Dame Christmas dance. The theme was "Silver Bells and Mistletoe"

Some juniors and seniors helped to decorate the gym in holiday fashion, while others were at home preparing for the big evening. The Christmas magic unfolded as couples entered the beautifully decorated gym on December 20 at 8:00

The band, "Fusion", then played a dance exclusively for the queen, her court and their escorts

Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus made a special appearance to make sure everyone behaved and enjoyed themselves

In keeping with the theme, the gym was decorated with silver bells and a sprig of mistletoe hanging from the ceiling

The final dancing tune was played and couples slowly departed from the gym at 11:30 with table decorations as souvenirs

Health, Medicine and Aid has its Place at NDA

The Medical Careers Club let ND girls expand their interest in medicine. The club gave them a chance to preview the work involved in the medical field.

Missions and Red Cross Club were service oriented. The various homerooms elected mission representatives to collect money which supported pagan children. The Red Cross Club raised money to aid others.

Spiritual Life Grows Strong in NDA Soil

The Spiritual Club helps girls grow closer to Christ on each of the four class levels. They have masses, group discussions and special prayer during their meetings.

Twenty N.D.A. girls stand on the first rung of the ladder to total commitment to Christ. Known as Notre Dame aspirants, they live a life charged with basic spirituality as they test their vocation to religious life as Sister of Notre Dame.

Tests Outside Activities Keep Girls on Their Toes

Twelve girls from NDA participated in St. Francis activities. Three were cheerleaders and nine were flag girls. Flag girls marched with the band during halt time at football games. Cheerleaders cheered at football and basketball games.

Three girls scored high on the PSAT and were chosen by the National Merit scholarship Fund as commendable students or semi-finalists.

Pro-Life Day Teaches Girls Love of Life

On January 29, 1976, NDA girls dedicated a day to the Pro-Life movement. They spent the time listening to various speakers on topics which ranged from respecting life in the unborn to the poor and the aged.

A Mass was offered for the intentions of the Pro-Life movement and canned goods were collected for the needy.

"Touchel!" "On guard!" "Watch out! That sword is sharp!" "Please take those gym guits home!" These were some of the various sounds coming from Mrs. Saelzler's gym classes this year.

Autumn gave birth to many new things at Notre Dame including new gym equipment. Students had the opportunity to jump their way to happiness on the new giant trampoline, fight a duel with a fellow classmate, using new fencing equipment, and try their luck at hitting the brand new target.

The '75-'76 school year gave the girls an opportunity to learn new skills with fantastic equipment while still having a great time.

Every year tournaments bring loud voiced, spirited, cheered out, tearstained girls together, and from this class experience, unity grows.

Last year's 1975 tournament brought defeat to high spirited Junior Heartbreak Kids from the Senior Sweethearts.

Freshman Fighting Irish also met defeat to their big sisses, the Sophomore Slickers.

In the championship game, the Heartbreak Kids defeated the Fighting Irish, and the big and powerful Senior Sweethearts defeated the Slickers and became champions.

Although the Heartbreak kids grew into Young Americans, heartbreak was still with three of the teams in the 1976 Tournaments. Sophomore Sergeants met defeat in the hands of the Junior Rebels. Also, the Senior Young Americans defeated the Freshmen Flyers.

On Thursday night, the second night of Tournament games, the Sophomore Sergeants won over the Freshmen Flyers. In the second and biggest game the Senior Young Americans were defeated by the Junior Rebels who now hold the 1976 championship title.

FACULTY

Faculty members — 93% Sisters of Notre Dame — 7% Catholic lay women — keep 593 girls at their books and on their toes seven out of seven days a week, for never is there a week-end without some NDA activity. Dedicated to Catholic education, they themselves have traveled the educational miles from kindergarten to A.B.s, M.A.s and one Ph.D. They daily challenge (and joy) girls to be the Christian American women of tomorrow, the women who will uphold the sacredness of life and the dignity of woman's place in society, the women who will nurture the arts, commend scientific progress and lend their hands to the practical, every day work in every sphere of life.

Senior Spirit Thrives in '76

a class was forming in their freshman year as they presented, "Alice in Wonderland"

They showed their power and spirit by winning their first basketball tournament

They became "Big Sisses" to incoming freshmen in their sophomore year

The theme of "Winnie the Pooh" brought the classes of '77 and '76 together

An educational trip to the zoo exhibited animal behavior to the girls

They became upperclassmen in their junior year

They received their rings on December 12, 1974

They learned of government procedures by taking part in a mock trial on a field trip to the Toledo Municipal Court House

They experienced their first Prom and Christmas Dance

September 3, 1975, officially titled them the senior class of 1976

They found living in Washington D.C. for three days on their class trip was an enjoyable event. Leaving home was exciting, but coming home was even better

The combination of the trip, assembly and Bicentennial sparked a flame for the unity of the class of '76

On December 13, 1975, there was special recognition given to the seniors. St. Lucy's Day was upon them

Memory days brought back pleasant events of the past three years

A brilliant production of "Anne of Green Gables," their class play, helped pull the seniors together, rekindling their spirit for further activities, such as tournaments, paper drives, GRADUATION!

$\frac{1}{2} \left(\frac{1}{\sqrt{2}} + \frac{1}{\sqrt{2}} \right) = \frac{1}{2} \left(\frac{\sqrt{2}}{\sqrt{2}} + \frac{\sqrt{2}}{\sqrt{2}} \right) = \frac{1}{2} \left(\frac{2\sqrt{2}}{\sqrt{2}} \right) = \frac{1}{2} (2) = 1$
